MERCURY HITS LOWEST MARK IN 22 YEARSTen Degrees Below Zero Recorded Here Early This Morning.*EARS FREEZE AND MANY PIPES BURST

The coldest weather of an unusually cold winter held Gettysburg and Adams county in frigid grip today.

Temperatures ranged from the official 10 degrees below zero to 24 degrees below.

Dr. Henry Stewart, local weather recorder, reported not only the lowest temperature so far this winter today, but the lowest in the last 22 years as well.

On only two previous occasions before 1912 were colder temperatures recorded here, the mercury once going to 12 below and on another occasion reaching an all-time minimum of 20 degrees below zero.

Registering 12 degrees above zero at 3 o'clock, Thursday afternoon, the mercury dropped steadily during the late afternoon and evening until the early hours this morning when the official minimum of 10 degrees below was reached.

Temperatures Vary
While Doctor Stewart's recording thermometer registered 10 degrees below zero, three thermometers put outside by members of the night shift at the O'Sullivan rubber company, North Washington street, zero at 4 o'clock this morning.

Innumerable automobiles in Gettysburg and Adams county could not be started this morning because the radiators or batteries were frozen, and garages did a land office business in towing, thawing and the dispensing of alcohol and other anti-freeze compounds.

Clayton F. Palmer, clerk of the courts, counted 11 automobiles in distress between Littlestown and Gettysburg on his way to work this morning.

Pipes Are Frozen

Many residents of Gettysburg reported water pipes frozen and burst this morning, according to officials of the Gettysburg water company, and plumbers were kept busy during the day making necessary repairs.

James B. Aumen, chief of the Gettysburg fire company, and Ralph Shryock, paper carrier at the Newsstand drug store, had their right ears frost bitten by the cold today. Mr. Aumen's ear was frozen while he was directing firemen fight a chimney fire at the home of Charles Rider, Round Top, this morning, and Shryock had his ear frozen while delivering papers. Both were given first-aid treatment in such cases, and except for swollen and highly-inflamed ears neither suffered any discomfort.

The cold wave was accompanied by a high wind and that may have been the means of saving Adams county's peach crop from complete annihilation, in the opinion of Oscar A. Rice, of Biglerville, owner of the largest peach orchard in the county. He said sub-zero temperatures invariably damage the peach crop, because the trees are unable to stand the cold and potential buds are frozen in the wood.

Fruit Endangered

He expressed hope, however, that the crop might not be entirely ruined owing to the strong wind accompanying the drop in temperature.

The thermometer climbed two or three degrees above zero today, but the strong northerly wind persisted and drove the chill through the warmest clothing and into the snugest houses.

The weather man promises some relief from the cold weather by Saturday.

The lowest temperature reading in the county was reported by the Rev. O. D. Coble, of Benderville, who reported a reading of 24 degrees below zero.

At Kane's store, this side of Newman's hill, Lincoln highway, West, the mercury dropped to 22 below.

John W. Bream, who resides a half mile east of Kane's store, reported a low mark of 18 below and at 11 o'clock the mercury was still 4 degrees below the zero mark.

Ellis Musselman, of near Fairfield, reported the third coldest spot in the county with a reading of 20 below.

Marks of 16 below were recorded at Wilson's store, Mummasburg; Luther Plank, of Table Rock; and C. W. Fair of Greentown.

At Brysonia, the thermometer at Knouse's store revealed a low mark of minus 14.

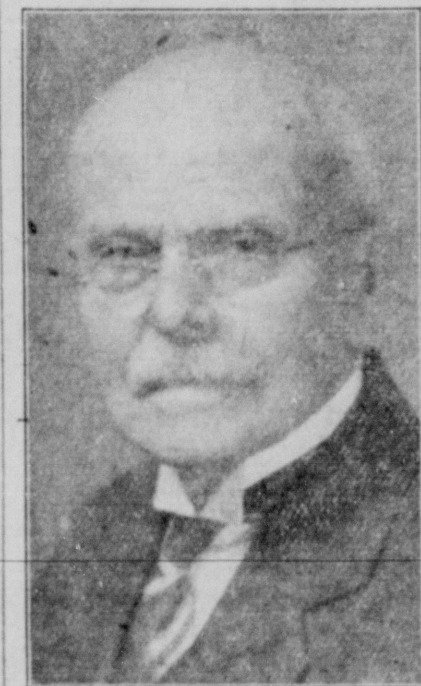

A similar reading of 14 below was recorded at the Biglerville garage.

The thermometer at Klepper's store, Arendtsville, dropped to 13 below zero.

DR. HENRY W. A. HANSON

DR. GEORGE D. STAHLEY

TWO HONORED AT BANQUETDr. Henry W. A. Hanson And Dr. George D. Stahley Guests Of Alumni.

A testimonial dinner was given Thursday night to Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg college, and Dr. George D. Stahley, professor emeritus of biology and hygiene at the college, by the Gettysburg Alumni College club of Harrisburg at the Central Y. M. C. A., Harrisburg.

The dinner, held as part of Gettysburg Week, was attended by almost seventy-five members of the club. The Rev. Dr. S. Winfield Herman, president of the club, presided.

Doctor Hanson, who has been president of the college since 1923, discussed plans for the school, the student body and the faculty. He spoke of the higher requirements asked by the college of a prospective student and said that it was the aim of the faculty to develop each student into an individual personality, and not let him become just another part of the student body.

Doctor Stahley, of the class of 1872 and member of the college faculty for forty-five years, amused the members with reminiscences of college life when he attended. Other speakers were Clyde E. Gerberish, of Mt. Joy, president of the alumni association of the college, and Charles W. Beachem, alumni secretary.

Members who attended the meeting were Dr. J. B. McAlister, Dr. Charles Baum, Middletown; Judge B. Frank Wickersham, Walter E. Hess, Dr. Horace M. Cumber, Dr. (Continued on Page Two)

Detroit Bank Is 4 Million Short

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—Alfred P. Leyburn, chief national bank examiner, told the senate banking committee Thursday that the First National Bank of Detroit was insolvent to the extent of $4,000,000 when the Michigan banking holiday was declared.

The examiner prefaced a deluge of criticism of the bank's policies and leadership with the remark that the condition of the bank with respect to loans "wasn't rotten—it was putrid."

He assailed the leadership of Wilson W. Mills, the president at the time the bank closed, asserting Mills had raised his own salary from $40,000 to $50,000 a year in January, 1933, shortly before the bank holiday.

LOCAL FOREST CAMP NO. ONE CALLED "BEST"Receives Distinct Honor In Sub-district Eight From Inspector.*SEEKS HONOR IN THIRD CORPS AREA

Having received the honor of being selected the best camp in sub-district No. 8, officers and men of civilian conservation corps camp, No. 1, 385th company, located in Pitzer's woods on the Gettysburg battlefield are now looking forward to winning the coveted honor of being the best outfit in the Third Corps area.

Capt. Arthur R. Walk, sub-district inspector, and Lieut. E. T. Gary, sub-district medical officer, both of Pine Grove Furnace, recently selected Camp No. 1 for the title of best camp in the sub-district. Ten camps in the sub-district, all within an area of 150 miles north and west of Gettysburg, competed for the honor.

Seek New Honor

As a result of Camp No. 1 winning the sub-district title, Lieut. Col. Fred A. Prince, of Pittsburgh, chief of staff of the 99th Division, and district inspector, visited the local outfit on Wednesday and Thursday.

Colonel Prince was favorably impressed with Camp No. 1. If he selects the local camp as the best in the West Pennsylvania district, comprising a total of 94 camps, a committee from the Third Corps area headquarters in Baltimore will then inspect the local camp to determine whether it is the best in the area.

If Camp No. 1 wins the Third Corps area title, the camp commander, Capt. Francis J. Moran, will be invited to Washington, D. C., to receive a gold medal from the Army and Navy Journal, which is sponsoring the competition among civilian conservation corps camps throughout the country. Other officers, the enlisted men and enrollees also will receive suitable awards.

Close Inspection

Many factors enter into the selection of the best camp in each sub-district. The inspectors judge by the appearance of the camp site, the barracks, the appearance and cleanliness of the mess hall, the arrangement of the hospital, headquarters, supply room, officers' quarters, toilets and showers, the appearance, conduct and morale of the men, their willingness to work, the amount of work accomplished and the recreational and educational facilities provided for the workers.

Much of the credit for Camp No. 1 winning the sub-district title is given by other officers and the enlisted men to Captain Moran, who has been in charge of the outfit since late last August. Camp No. 1 was established here on June 10, 1933.

Other Associates

Others associated with Captain Moran at Camp No. 1 are Lieut. S. J. Rosenberg, medical officer; Lieut. George Q. Bass, adjutant; Lieut. Charles Hicks, mess officer; Sergeant S. V. Neely, first sergeant, and Sergeant W. H. Hoyle, supply and mess sergeant.

E. J. Farrell, of Gettysburg, is work superintendent at the camp, and is in charge of the enrollees while they are working. He has been responsible for the work schedules in the national park.

Camp No. 1 has 199 C. C. C. workers, all colored, on its rolls.

G. D. SHEELY HAS POLITICAL BEECountian May Run For Lieutenant Governor Or Secretary Of Internal Affairs.

George D. Sheely, Oxford township, former representative from Adams county in the state legislature, wants to run for lieutenant governor or secretary of internal affairs this year, according to a political writer in a Harrisburg newspaper.

Friends of Mr. Sheely in Gettysburg and Adams county have known for several weeks that he was desirous of securing a position on the state ticket this year, but the position to which he aspired was never divulged.

Under the caption, "Politics In Pennsylvania," the Harrisburg newspaper had the following to say about Mr. Sheely's intention to seek a major position in the state administration:

State Needs Farmer

"George D. Sheely, New Oxford R. D. 1, who represented Adams county in the general assembly from 1929 to 1933, has announced his intention of becoming a candidate for the republican nomination for either secretary of internal affairs or lieutenant governor. Adams county, he says, has never had recognition on the republican state ticket so far as state officers are concerned and a number of republicans in the county are seeking such recognition this year by urging Sheely to run for either of these two offices.

"He is actively engaged in farming and believes that 'what the republican party needs in this campaign is a farmer on the state ticket, not alone someone who is perhaps a farm owner but one who is now engaged in farming and knows just what the farmer is obliged to battle in order to keep his head above water.' Sheely has declared himself in favor of governmental economy and has pledged that if elected to a state-owned office he will not accept a state-owned automobile for his official duties. He says that the practice of providing automobiles for state officials and employees is one leak in governmental expenses that should be plugged to some extent."

FIND STOLEN FAG MACHINECigarette Vending Apparatus Is Found Imbedded In Ice Of Marsh Creek.

A $100 cigarette vending machine, stolen from the Gettysburg bowling alley, York street, Friday night, January 5, was found imbedded in the ice of Marsh creek under the bridge on the Emmitsburg road, by two boys who were skating, Thursday afternoon.

The machine had been broken open and all the money and cigarettes, with the exception of one pack, were taken.

Judging from the condition of the machine, state police believed the apparatus had been put in the creek the night of the burglary.

Jesse Hoffman and John Fissel, who live near Marsh creek, saw the machine in the ice under the bridge while skating, Thursday afternoon.

By cutting through the ice, the machine was removed, and state police, who were notified, brought the apparatus to headquarters here. The machine and its contents were the property of the John C. Lower wholesale grocery company. The exact amount of money in the machine was not ascertained.

Besides the cigarette vending machine, the intruders stole a penny slot machine from the bowling alley. Only a small amount of money was in that apparatus.

State police are continuing their investigation.

Council Slashes One Mill From Tax Rate; Cuts AppropriationsThree Mills Added To Rate For General Operating Expenses And Four Mills Are Slashed From Special Tax; Budget For 1934 Totals $31,783.*$1,000 IS APPROPRIATED TO LOCAL MOSQUITO-ERADICATION CAMPAIGN

After adopting a budget of $31,783 for the current year, council established a general tax rate of 13 mills and a special tax rate of one mill at an adjourned meeting of council, Thursday evening.

This is a reduction of one mill in the tax rate for 1934. Council added three mills to the rate for general operating expenses, but slashed four mills from the special tax rate, making the total 14 mills for 1934 as compared with 15 mills last year.

In 1933, the general tax rate was 10 mills and the special tax rate was 5 mills.

$12,000 In Special Fund

The chief reason for reducing the special tax rate was the fact that there is approximately $12,000 in that fund, used for the retirement of borough bonds and the payment of interest, which total approximately $6,500 a year.

The addition of three mills to the general rate resulted from the adoption of a budget approximately $1,700 in excess of that for 1933.

Adoption of the 1934 tax rates was not without considerable debate and discussion. Councilman Emory C. Williams suggested lopping three mills from the 5-mill special tax rate and allowing the general rate to remain unchanged at 10 mills. "Make your budget fit your income," he urged.

On the other hand, Councilman D. C. Stallsmith at first held out for complete elimination of the special rate of five mills, allowing the accumulation in that fund to take care of the redemption of bonds and the payment of interest this year. At the same time, he urged the adoption of the 15-mill general tax rate to meet operating expenses of the borough this year.

Presentation of the awards was made by Dr. W. E. Tilberg, scout executive for Adams county.

A scout play, "These Fathers," was presented.

Ray Zaner, scout executive for the York-Adams area, delivered a brief talk emphasizing the nationwide broadcast to Scouts, Saturday noon, by President Roosevelt, when the nation's chief executive will issue a call to service to more than 900,000 Boy Scouts.

The local youths will assemble in the Hotel Gettysburg annex at 11:30 o'clock. A program will precede the broadcast.

Senate Passes Huge CWA Bill

Washington, Feb. 9.—The senate Thursday night passed the administration bill for civil works and relief grants to the states after administration forces had defeated overwhelmingly republican independent efforts to boost the total. It now goes to conference with the house.

The decision was reached without a roll call after Senator Cutting, (republican, New Mexico) had lost, 57 to 10, an amendment to raise the fund to $2,500,000,000—$2,000,000,000 of it for civil works—and Senator LaFollette, (republican, Wisconsin) had been defeated, 52 to 14, in an effort to increase the total to $1,500,000,000.

VIENNA BARES BOMBING PLOT

Series Of Raids Upsets Plans Of Alleged Communists And Bolsheviks.

Vienna, Feb. 9 (AP).—What an official communique described as "an unprecedented criminal plot of Bolsheviks and Marxist elements" was uncovered in a series of police raids on socialist centers culminating in the occupation Thursday of the socialist newspaper Arbeiter Zeitung. Bombs, each large enough to blow up a building, were among the explosives confiscated in Vienna and nearby cities, said the statement.

Socialist Leaders Arrested "In other words," it added, "there were enough bombs to destroy entire sections of the city."

A number of leaders of the outlawed socialist republican guards were arrested in connection with the reported discoveries, including the commandant of police in the Vienna municipality.

Several of the arrested leaders confessed, it was announced, but the extent and character of the alleged confessions were not revealed.

The government pointed out that the anti-socialist action should not be interpreted as a move opposed to the working class and warned workers not to permit themselves to be "lured into attempting anti-government demonstrations."

Strikes, it was emphasized, were made illegal in a recent government decree.

Raids also uncovered many machine guns, thousands of rifles, quantities of ammunition and hand grenades and the like several months ago, the communique explained.

Police found indications of renewed secret activity among members of the outlawed guard and recently it became evident they were "systematically collecting weapons and munitions for violent action on a big scale," the statement alleged.

"HAPPY MAN" SAYS BUSHMAN

Bride - To - Be Of Former Screen Star Says "He's Marvelous."

Boston, Feb. 9 (AP).—Carmela Ponselle left here Thursday for Chicago with words of affection for Francis X. Bushman, movie hero of a past generation, to whom she said she would be married soon.

"He's marvelous; he's the grandest person in the world," said the mezzo soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company as she boarded a train after singing in an opera Wednesday night.

"I will retire within a year to devote by time to my New York school and philanthropy," she said. "I love children and I understand them. Any mother should be able to tell when a child reaches the age of 5 whether he is fitted for a musical or dramatic career. I can tell by the pulse, mannerisms and speech."

The Bushman-Ponselle nuptials will be a quiet affair. The date, though not set, probably will be within a month. Meanwhile Mr. Bushman, now a partner in a Chicago retail liquor store, awaited the arrival of his bride-to-be. His partner, Milton Pollack, quoted him as saying, "I'm the happiest man in the universe."

Mr. Bushman gained fame in the movies before the advent of the "talkie." Marriage to Miss Ponselle would be his third, both previous ones ending in divorce. His second wife was Beverly Bayne, a film star of the "silent" era. He had five children by his first marriage and one by his second.

Miss Ponselle is a sister of Rosa Ponselle, also an opera star. Her marriage to Dr. Henry Giamarino, of New Haven, ended in divorce.

Release Of Young Banker Is Almost Frustrated By Time-lock; $200,000 Paid

(Associated Press Copyright, 1934)

St. Paul, Feb. 9.—Freedom, bought and paid for with a fortune in money, was Edward G. Bremer's when he returned from twenty-two days in a kidnapper's lair, wounded and exhausted.

The full $200,000 ransom, $80,000 in $5 bills and the rest in $10 denominations, was delivered by Walter Magee Tuesday night after a hitch in previous plans for payment had thwarted arrangements, arousing fresh anxiety among the family that Bremer might never return.

Magee, wealthy contractor friend, who received the first ransom note January 17, when the banker was seized, was sworn to secrecy and would not reveal details of the ransom payment.

Told To Go To Des Moines It was learned, however, that some time prior to last Saturday Magee received instructions from the gang. He was to take a bus from St. Paul at a specified hour, go to a certain Des Moines (Iowa) hotel and register under an assumed name, having in his possession the money. The gang supplied the name he was to use.

There he was told to await further word. However, when Magee received the communication, the money was under a time lock in a St. Paul bank and the plan could not be carried out.

Several days passed without further signs from the captors, prompting Adolph Bremer, father of the banker, to issue his appeal and offer of last Saturday for three days and three nights in which to negotiate secretly without police interference.

Final Instructions Follow Final instructions followed almost immediately. These stipulated Magee was to go to a specified corner in St. Paul where an automobile would be parked. Before entering

Arrest Two With $2,000 In Cash

Milwaukee, Feb. 9 (AP).—Detectives questioned two men believed to be bootleggers who were arrested last night while speeding in an automobile with a Minnesota license.

In the car were weapons and $2,000 in $5, $10 and $20 bills, the police said. They also sought to link them with the kidnapping of Edward G. Bremer, of St. Paul, whose family paid $200,000 for his release from his abductors, Wednesday.

In addition to the Bremer connection, police sought to learn whether the pair had taken part in the hold-up of a messenger for a Duluth butcher earlier in the week.

Serial numbers of the bills were checked to determine whether any ransom notes were among them.

STOCK REPORT

New York, Feb. 9 (AP).—Financial markets froze up with the weather today and price movements generally were recessionary. Shares of U. S. Smelting lost 5 and Allied Chemicals and Case dropped about 4 each. American Can and United Aircraft were down around 2. U. S. Steel, American Telephone, American commercial alcohol, Union Pacific, Santa Fe New York Central slipped 1 to 2.

The utilities, rails, oils, motors and many industrials were a little soft.

SANKEY ENDS LIFE IN CELL

Confessed Kidnapper Hangs Himself With Two Neckties, Thursday.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Feb. 9 (AP).—Verne Sankey, kidnapper and gangster, called "America's public enemy No. 1," cheated the law Thursday night by committing suicide.

He hanged himself with two neckties in his cell at the South Dakota state penitentiary here, where he was held on federal charges of conspiracy to kidnap for $6,000 ransom last February Charles Boettcher 2d, Denver broker.

His body was found by a guard stationed in a corridor nearby. The notorious outlaw, after fashioning the crude noose with the ties, knotted it to a bar, then stepped off his cot.

Guard Finds Body E. M. Neely, deputy United States marshal, one of the two guards assigned to Sankey's cell block, discovered the body. Although he had been in the corridor at the time, he was out of sight of Sankey.

Thus ended the law's plan to send Sankey to prison for a term up to life imprisonment. His counsel, Ben B. Laska, Denver, had disclosed Sankey had planned to plead guilty today to a charge of conspiracy to kidnap for ransom in the Boettcher case.

With his companion, Gordon Alcorn, Sankey was to have gone into court today to plead. Both Sankey and Alcorn were arrested last week at Chicago.

Was Lindbergh Suspect

Sankey was long suspected of implication in the fatal abduction of the Lindbergh baby, but after lengthy grilling following his arrest in Chicago federal officials said they had been unable to connect him with the case.

Michael Kinkhead, county attorney of Ramsey county, Minnesota, in charge of the Bohn investigation, who made a search of the Sankey ranch said he discovered a completed account of the Lindbergh kidnapping there.

Sankey steadfastly maintained innocence of any connection with the case however, and it was finally decided to extradite him to South Dakota to stand trial for the Boettcher abduction. He faced life imprisonment on conviction.

MacCracken Defies Senate Authority

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP).—The senate, defied today by William P. MacCracken—Hoover assistant secretary of commerce for air—ordered his arrest.

He failed to appear for the scheduled opening of his trial on contempt charges, challenging the senate's authority.

Three co-defendants, all attached to air companies that benefited from air mail contracts in the last administration, were on land, however.

Once the MacCracken position had been read to the senate, Senator Black, democrat, Alabama, chairman of the committee investigating air mail contracts, introduced the resolution ordering his arrest.

MacCracken had been free on his personal bond. He, as their counsel, and the other three were cited on charges of contempt of the senate in removal of evidence from MacCracken's files after these had been subpoenaed.

The trial of the other three defendants, L. H. Brittin, vice president of Northwest Airways; Harris M. Hanshue, president of Western Air Express, and Gilbert Givins, Washington representative of the latter corporation, was suspended until MacCracken could be brought before the senate.

BLOND GODDESS

By Herbert Jensen

SYNOPSIS: Frank Grahame, explorer in the wilds of Yucatan searching for the lost city of Mayan, just has found the girl he loves, Janice Kent, the movie star, imprisoned at the top of a Mayan pyramid. She, with a party from Hollywood, has come into the jungle to make a Mexican picture, and has fallen into the hands of the sub-leaders.

Chapter 28 THE ESCAPE

"Can't tell how many of these people are about," Frank went on. "Come. We have just enough time to get into the jungle before daylight."

"I'm tied." Her whisper was faint with fatigue. Grahame realized that since dawn she had probably been awake.

Grahame examined her bonds. They were tied intricately but loosely enough not to constrict the flesh. She had free movement of her limbs but the ropes were cunningly arranged to prevent any major activity.

Grahame drew his clasp-knife and made short work of the thongs.

Janice sat erect and placed her feet upon the floor. She was dressed as he had seen her that morning, in coat, breeches and puttees. "Come," he said, "we'll go now."

"Wait," she answered. "We can't leave Mr. Greene. He's here somewhere. He was wounded a week ago and today they hit him."

"I know. But I'm afraid we can't take him this trip. Perhaps you don't realize, but we're in a dangerous position. We have a thousand-to-one chance of getting—"

"You don't understand," she said weakly. "I will not leave here without him."

Grahame had a curious sense of anger. Some of the old hurt she had dealt him revived. It seemed that in every situation this girl was to thwart him.

"Does Greene mean so much to you then that—"

"Naturally." Her tone was final with its simplicity.

Grahame's nod was almost a bow of submission. He slipped into the corridor. He glanced at the still figures of the guards; they would be unconscious for sometime yet, he decided.

Greene was asleep when he found him. Grahame worried for an instant, that the man's slight snore betrayed a concussion resulting from the blow he had received. But as the keen blade cut into the ropes, Greene started up with a fury that while it reassured the other, nearly sent him off balance.

"Easy, man!" he cautioned. "h-h-h!"

Grahame turned his head and found Janice just behind him. "I think," she said, "I heard noises of some kind. They seemed far away."

"From below," answered Grahame. "Noise floats upward. It's about time the city below is awakening. We have no time to lose."

They stole into the corridor, made the turn past the burning receptacle and out before the great stone altar. It was then that Grahame made the discovery that about the base was heaped many kinds of food, chiefly cereals and meats, some raw, some cooked.

It was the odor of these foods that had accentuated his sense of hunger. He grasped great handfuls and stuffed them into the wide slits of his khaki coat. He felt immensely cheered.

"A break for us," he whispered. Janice smiled wanly. Greene was looking about him with the utmost curiosity, and, it seemed to Grahame, with a little dismay.

Grahame remembered that the man had been carried to this height while unconscious. It spoke volumes in praise for Mr. Greene's poise that his expression betrayed so little consternation.

They began the descent with the eastern sky splitting into streaks of saffron. Grahame led the way, with Janice following and Greene bringing up the rear. Greene moved slowly, his fingers gripping at the rough stone steps with the nervous anxiety of a man unaccustomed to height.

They skirted the rocky ledge about the pit. Janice gazed at its sullen depths with frank wonderment, while Mr. Greene, after one quick glance, averted his eyes and stumbled after them with quickened pace.

They reached Grahame's hiding place, breathless from their haste, and paused.

"I think," observed Grahame, "that it would be safer to keep on for a mile, until we are well into the stony country just below. We can double back and hide in the ruins." He gestured with his arm.

They continued onward. After a little while Grahame bore to the right, returning in a rough circle to the rear of the ruin. There was another entrance on that side, quite overgrown.

They climbed over the rubbish that had fallen between the portals and found themselves within a large chamber. A portion of the roof had crumbled inward, making a center pile of stone blocks.

centuries.

Grahame divested himself of his coat and produced his food supply. Each seemed conscious of the most vital business in hand. First of all they must have food and rest. Later they could discuss their circumstances and the events that had brought them together in the ominous situation.

They consumed their meal in silence. Greene rolled his last bit of meat in a fragment of tortilla and remarked that he could do with a glass of beer, a large one preferably, but lacking that, a half a gallon of spring water would do.

The other man looked at him sardonically.

"When the governor of North Carolina made his classic remark to his political neighbor," Frank observed, "he surely had Yucatan in mind. With luck we'll get a little water about four o'clock this afternoon, when it rains. The wider you can stretch your mouth the more you'll get."

Mr. Greene looked a trace disconcerted.

"I don't like you," he said, and resting his head against a stone, he slept.

But Janice and Grahame had too much to discuss for sleep. He avoided most carefully any mention of their last interview in Hollywood. He gave as his sole reason for coming to this country his conviction that his friend, the lost flyer Langton, had fallen somewhere within this jungle.

Both cases were tried before on jury and at the same time since the same facts were involved in both. This verdict is the largest sum awarded in the York county court since October 16, 1924.

Girls To Play Here Tonight

One of the most unique basketball attractions ever presented in this section will be offered tonight at the Hotel Gettysburg annex when the St. Louis All-stars, composed entirely of girls, meet the Sweetland passers, leaders of the county league.

The Missourians boast a combination that has defeated many strong men's teams. The girls are reported to be great shots and excellent defensive players. They have never been defeated by a girls' team.

The squad is rangy and is said to average almost 150 pounds in weight. Always in perfect physical condition, the girls ask no privileges from their male opponents.

Opposing the visitors will be the Sweetland team. The "Sweets" have won six in a row and are looking for a real game against the United States girl champions.

A preliminary game that should provide its quota of thrills will be played between the Fleet-Wings and the Lancaster Democrats. The Lancastrians recently gave the Wings a stiff struggle at Lancaster and hope to reverse the tables tonight.

The first game will start at 8 o'clock.

MEDICAL ADVICE

If you want to ... relieve constipation gently and safely
... take the exact dose suited to your need
... avoid danger of bowel strain
—use a liquid laxative

Can constipation be safely relieved? "Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" declare thousands who have followed their advice and know.

You are not apt to cure your constipation with salts, pills and tablets, or any habit-forming cathartic. But you can safely relieve this condition just by gentle regulation with a suitable liquid laxative.

Why Hospitals use a liquid laxative

The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can thus be regulated to suit your individual need. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will it irritate the kidneys.

The right liquid laxative will bring a perfect movement, with no discomfort at the time, or afterward.

The unwise use of strong cathartics may often do more harm than good.

In buying any laxative, read the label. If it contains a doubtful drug, don't take it. If you don't know what is in it, don't chance it. The contents of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is stated plainly on the label: fresh herbs, pure pepsin, active senna.

Its very taste tells you Syrup Pepsin is wholesome. A delightful taste, and delightful action. Safe for expectant mothers, and children. Drug stores have it, ready for use, in big bottles.

THE TEST:

This test has proved to many men and women that their trouble was not "weak bowels," but strong cathartics!

First: select a properly prepared liquid laxative. Second: take the dose you find suited to your system. Third: gradually reduce the dose until bowels are moving of their own accord.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has the highest standing among liquid laxatives, and is the one generally used.

WITH BYRD IN THE ANTARCTIC

Right now, under the toughest conditions, TYDOL Gasoline is furnishing instant power, and VEEDOL Motor Oil is supplying safe lubrication to all Admiral Byrd's motor equipment.

Try the same cold-proof VEEDOL Motor Oil Admiral Byrd uses... in your own car... And Triple "X" TYDOL, the gasoline that gives proved half-second starting plus instant lubrication in cold weather! They will give you better winter driving.

having compassion one of another; love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous:Not rendering evil for evil, or railing for railing; but contrariwise blessing; knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should inherit a blessing.For he that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile:Let him eschew evil, and do good; let him seek peace, and ensure it.For the eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his ears

By George Mattheu Adams

THE STORY OF "TREASURE ISLAND"

I NEVER tire of the reading of the beginning of things. The other evening I read of the early struggles of Robert Louis Stevenson and his first real book—"Treasure Island."Its first appearance was in James Henderson's paper "Young Folks," for which Stevenson received the sum of about ten dollars for a page of 4500 words! Here it ran from October 11, 1881, until January 28, 1882.
Stevenson wrote this book under a spell of great enthusiasm—about a chapter a day until more than half of it was finished. We have his word that he never wrote a book in which the words flowed so easily.The story first appeared under the pseudonym of "Captain George North," for fear that this story might injure the reputation the author had gained with his more serious writing.Early in 1882 the story was revised and prepared for book publication. A publisher was hard to find. It was not until a year later that a publisher offered a hundred pounds for its publication! This, however, pleased Stevenson and he wrote enthusiastically to his home folks and told them of his joy."Treasure Island" was finally published by Messrs. Cassell of London in December, 1883. Up to 1919, about $30,000.00 had been paid in royalties for this book! It made Stevenson famous and has become a classic among adventure stories.Stevenson's comment about his first offer is interesting. Thus he wrote home:—"A hundred pounds, all alive O! a hundred jingling, tingling golden-minted quid! Is not this wonderful. . . . It does look as if I should support myself without trouble in the future. If I have only health, I can thank God. It is dreadful to be a great big man, and not be able to buy bread."Stevenson declared that the germ of the story was the map drawn for the wall on his stepson's playroom at Braemar, and later told when the book was undertaken. Another inspiration for the story came from the mere name, "The Dead Man's Chest," taken from Kingsley's book on the West Indies, "At Last." Ideas were drawn from the writings of Defoe, Irving, and Poe, and from Johnson's "Lives of Pirates and High-waymen." Stevenson's friend, W. E. Henley, provided the genesis for the prominent figure in the book, the one-legged cook, Silver.The book has been pirated from all directions, and is today one of the most absorbing of all books and one which has brought delight and entertainment to millions. If Stevenson had written nothing else, he would have been immortal!

ANCIENT DOG LEFT HIS MARK

Chicago (AP)—The troubles of concrete layers with people who leave tracks on freshly-laid sidewalks are nothing new. The same thing bothered King Sargon of the Hittite empire in what is now Turwhich Sargon's seal had been imprinted and left to dry also bears the footprints of a dog which ran across the tablet before it had hardened.

Income Tax

NO. 10

EXEMPTION ALLOWED HEAD OF A FAMILYA head of a family is defined by income-tax regulations as "an individual who actually supports and maintains in one household one or more persons who are closely connected with him by blood relationship, relationship by marriage, or by adoption, and whose right to exercise family control and provide for these dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation." The exemption allowed a head of a family is $2,500. The phrase "in one household" may be interpreted as meaning the taxpayer's personal residence, an apartment, rooms in a boarding house, hotel, etc.Under certain circumstances it is not necessary that the taxpayer and his dependents live under one roof during the taxable year in order that the taxpayer may claim the exemption. If, the common home being maintained, the parent is away on business, or a child away at school or on a visit, the exemption is allowed. Moreover, if a parent is obliged to maintain his dependent children with relatives or in a boarding house, while he lives elsewhere, the exemption still applies. If however, without necessity, the dependent makes his home elsewhere, the benefactor is not the head of a family.The same ruling applies to husband and wife "living together." If occasionally and temporarily the husband is away on business or the wife on a visit, the common home being maintained, the $2,500 exemption still applies. The unavoidable absence of husband or wife at a sanatorium does not preclude the exemption. But if the husband con-tinuously makes his home at one place and the wife at another, they are not living together within the meaning of the revenue act.REICHBISHOP MULLER STRIKES BLOW AT FOESBerlin, Feb. 9 (AP).—Reichbishop Ludwig Mueller, as the Protestant bishop of Prussia, further intrenched himself in power Wednesday by issuing a decree providing that any minister in Prussia can be transferred to another parish.This action contravenes the Lutheran practice of having congregations call their pastors. The decree provided also for the abolition of the offices of president and vice president in the Prussian provincial church council. Bishop Mueller therefore, will govern henceforth the present church administration alone.He also ordered that any pastor
"may, in the interest of service, be retired on pension." By this measure Doctor Mueller can rid himself of pastors opposing him.FOUR KILLED WHEN AUTO

women, a man and a boy were kilthrough the guard rail of a bridge of the city.The bodies were not identified immediately. Police said license sued to Frank and Martha Kalkosaid the car was seen to skid just

Bronchial Irritations
Need Creosote
For many years our best doctors have prescribed creosote in some form for coughs, colds and bronchitis. Knowing how dangerous it is to let them hang on.

Creosolium with creosote and six other highly important medicinal elements quickly and effectively stops coughs and colds that otherwise might lead to serious trouble. Creosolium is powerful in the treatment of colds and coughs, yet it is absolutely harmless and is pleasant and easy to take.

Your own druggist guarantees Creosolium by refunding your money if you are not relieved after taking Creosolium as directed. Beware the cough or cold that hangs on. Always keep Creosolium on hand for instant use. (adv.)

ROAD SAFETY RULES GIVEN

Good Judgment Receives Emphasis In Highway Safety.

Emphasizing that good judgment will greatly reduce motor vehicle accidents, the governor's committee on street and highway safety today said motorists can eliminate one out of every two mishaps by following five simple rules.

"Last year 43 per cent of the accidents resulted from five causes," the committee said. "Out of 45,374 accidents 10,533 operators were driving too fast for conditions; 4,178 were on the wrong side of the road; 1,738 were cutting in and out of the flow of traffic; 1,514 failed to signal and 1,604 did not stop at through streets."

"From these figures it is evident that motorists can prevent half the annual toll of accidents by following five simple rules:

"1. Let safety and good judgment govern your speed.

"2. Keep on the right side of the road.

"3. Don't take chances in cutting in ahead of the other fellow.

"4. Obeey the stop signs at through streets.

"5. Signal your intentions to the drivers behind you."

TWO GOOD HORSES, one a fine leader; four Guernsey and Jersey milk cows; stock bull, will weigh about 800 pounds; three head young cattle. All T. B. tested. Two shoats.

Broad tread wagon; double row corn planter; McCormick mower, hay rake; drill; binder; two Oliver Chill plows; harrow; New Idea manure spreader, Model 8, like new; hay carriage and many articles not mentioned.

Eight months credit.
